If You Are a Real American, Sign This

To the Congress of the United States:
I appeal to the members of Congress to use their influence with President Wilson to halt the proposed sale on Monday of thirty former German ships. Further, I petition that there be a most thorough and full investigation of every important fact covering the proposed sale. This investigation should most thoroughly probe the report that the Shipping Board plans to sell these ships, including some of the largest and finest steamships afloat, for $28,000,000, which declared to be but one-third of their real value.

I deem to ask why cannot the government itself operate these fine ships rather than sacrifice two-thirds of their value?

CONDEMNNS U.S. SHIP SURRENDER TO BRITAIN

Hundreds Denounce "Perfidy" of Officials Who Would Sell Ships to British for a Song

Staunch and patriotic New Englanders have seldom been accused to such a pitch of indignation as that occasioned by the threatened "treachery" of the former German steamships which the Shipping Board plans to transfer to British registry.

Men prominent in every walk of life have voiced their opposition in telegrams to the Boston American, denouncing the plot to deliver the ships to Great Britain through the International Mercantile Marine Company, the Morgan agency. They demand the speedy officials be exposed, a hearing held and the scandal aired by Congress.

The station call of "Americanism" has aroused officials and without exception each protestant demands the ships and stripes kept flying over the dome of the protest follow.

WILLIAM F. KIRBY, United States Senator, Arkansas.—An American merchant marine should be established and maintained and the government should continue to build ships and to operate all constructed in carrying our coal and foreign commerce. No more government-owned or controlled ships adapted to such use should be sold or disposed of.

MEDLEY McCORRICK, United States Senator, Illinois.—I am against the sale of ships except under the binding condition that their owners shall be Americans and that they shall be sailed under the American flag.

F. J. McTIGHER, United States Senator, North Dakota.—I believe the ships should be sold, but not for less than real value.

ARTHUR CAPPER, U. S. Senator, Kansas.—I would be the greatest king of a blunder to sell these ships for $10,000,000, or anything like that amount. We have had too much of this kind of business in the past. Millions of dollars have been squandered in one way or another. The people are complaining bitterly.

HOWARD RUTHERFORD, U. S. Senator, West Virginia.—It may be hard to sell the fleet now in the hands of the Shipping Board, but it should be sold at its true and actual value. All the facts in the case should be placed before the American public.

E. L. PHILLIPS, Governor, Wisconsin.—The President should stop the sale of the ships. We should review our navigation laws so that American ships can compete with ships of foreign registration and lease or sell German ships to American organizations that will sail the American connection with the transaction.

CONGRESSMAN JAMES A. GALLIVAN.

JOHN J. NOLAN, Congressman, California.—I am afraid that by throwing the former German ships on the market at this time, the Shipping Board will have to sacrifice them at prices far too low.

stand up and demand that the sale be prohibited.

COLONEL JOSEPH F. WILLARD, U. S. A., retired, of Newport, R. I.—Let competent judges such as the New River Shipbuilding Company and others pass upon the value of the ships offered to and make an offer price which should be adhered to. This would be the best way of doing it. Wait.

THOMAS R. CONDON, cashier, Audubon National Bank, New York.—For $1 I can see there does not seem to be any good and sufficient reason why the government should sacrifice the German ships at half their value, so long as they can readily get more. Let the president hold up the sale for the moment.

THEOPHILUS T. FITZPATRICK, prominent New York business student.—The price for such ships seems very small. In the president look into the matter before selling the ships.

HENRY M. SHEDDEN, Boston attorney.—The proposal to sell these vessels to no complaint to the intelligence of the people of the United States. I do not see why they should not be operated by the Shipping Board, that is, if it is felt they should not go to public use for one reason or another. But anyway, they should be retained to carry our mails and merchandise.

JAMES R. BAXTER, Member of the State Department of Public Works.—The American has stated the case so plainly that any argument as to the attitude this country should take seems almost to me, unnecessary. The ships ought to remain in the control of this government. It is as necessary to develop the Merchant Marine in times of peace as in war.

BENJAMIN P. CLEVER, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission.—The German ships could be kept by this government until an investigation is made anyway. I do not believe they should be turned over to the British flag when we marine.

GARDNER W. PEARSON, Lowell.—Sale should be stopped. The ships should be operated by Americans under the American flag.

Must Fly U. S. Flag, Says Tinkham

BY CONGRESSMAN GEORGE TINKHAM.
(Eleventh District.)

In relation to sale of German ships, I believe inquiry should be had. No sale of these ships should be allowed which does not provide for a public utility and every condition that the ship shall fly the American flag under any and all conditions and be a part of our naval reserve. All bids for these ships should be rejected unless bids are reasonably adequate in relation to their real value.

COAL FAMINE FEAR REMOVED

4,600 Tons and 343 Carloads
Received for New England

East Boston, the Edison, 4,500 tons for C. H. Sprague & Son, and the Walter D. Hayes, 6,000 tons for the Edison Electric Illuminating Company.

No word has been received by the sub-committee from James J. Storrow, local fuel administrator, who went to Washington to confer with the Central Coal Committee.

Anthracite dealers, particularly in the suburbs, are charged with taking advantage of the present fuel famine to demand exorbitant rates for coal, reaching as high as $14 per ton in many instances.

The State Commission on Necessaries of Life is investigating alleged instances of coal profiteering and promises speedy punishment to dealers found guilty of imposing on the public.

Householders are said to have been charged from 25 to 35 cents a ton in addition to the initial cost of $14, to carry the coal into the home.

A case has been cited at Malden where a dealer charged children 75 cents per ton for the coal which they carried away on their sleds.

The coal shortage has been further aggravated by an acute shortage of grain, caused primarily by placing an embargo on grain on the New England railroads.

Three barges loaded with 7,000 tons of bituminous coal and 11 other barges filled to capacity with hard coal were unloaded today at East Boston and several more are on the seas bound for this port.

The 20,000 tons of soft coal promised to bring relief to New England are scheduled to arrive early next week.

Somewhat, your clerk seems like the real old New Englander that had stepped from home where the pie that mother made, were the best ever, so felt would like to tell you that you can be proud of those in your employ when they are well and all speak in such glowing terms of you, for there is no truer saying, "United we stand, divided we fall."

I wish some of the clerks in the larger stores would come down and take lessons in politeness and courtesy which is greatly appreciated by everybody.

'Shovel Out Saturday' In Worcester

Worcester, Feb. 12.—O. R. means "shovel out Saturday" according to Mayor Sullivan of Worcester. He has suggested a plan for having all the citizens of Worcester get together Saturday and clear the city's streets of snow. Committees are on their feet running up the available shovels and picks. The manufacturing plants have announced their intention of closing for the day. Appeals are being made to the city fathers to order the city to order the citizens to enter into the spirit of the day and have divided up their work. In various sections of the city, students of Holy Cross, Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Clark College and University will also join the army of snow shovellers. Mayor Sullivan estimated today that there would be about 2,000 men shoveling snow tomorrow.

WILSON REPLIES TO R. MEN

Supports Position of Hines, But Makes New Proposal to Labor Leaders

President Wilson's rejection of the ways demands, but he had softened this decision by offering numerous suggestions for relief.

The President is understood to have supported the position which President General Hines took that the government could not increase the wages of railroad workers when the railroads are to be returned to their private owners within a comparatively short period.

The representatives of the workers were very anxious when they left the conference, but were apparently satisfied with the President's decision and would take no further action while the railroads are under government control.

It was common belief here that the workers would accede to the President's decision and would take no further action while the railroads are under government control.

One of the men told the President he was looking very well, and the President replied: "Well, I have just had a shave and that helps me, you see."

NORTHCLIFFE RAPS CENSOR

Charges, Soviet Dispatch Allowed in Paris Papers Was Withheld From British

London, Feb. 12.—British censorship of news from Russia is the subject of a complaint in Northcliffe's Times. A wireless message from Moscow, in which the Soviet Foreign Minister, M. Litvinov, explained that he was withholding from publication in the London news press.

"Why is this?" asks the Times and continues: "Unfortunately we know that it has been the practice of some persons connected with the censorship, at all times during the war, to keep back information which might be disagreeable to one department or the government or another or to that of that particular minister. Departments and even members of the cabinet have been known to differ as to the publication or suppression of particular items of news."

"Somebody in Lloyd George's entourage may have foolishly thought he was doing a good service by complying to the proper quarters that the publication of Litvinov's version of Lloyd George's Russian policy would be deemed advisable or opportune."

The Times also makes the point that wireless messages from Moscow are of course controlled by the British censorship.

Throughout the war all wireless messages from Russia were picked up by the British admiralty, and subjected to a rigid censorship. There has been an announcement that this work has been abandoned and that the British admiralty, though London dispatches have been retained, all other censorship in Britain has been abolished.

We receive a lot of letters from appreciative people, so I'm publishing a few and hereby I'll publish some more. We have the originals of 'em all with name and address except the card described below

Mr. Dorr:
Dear Sir:

No, this is NOT a complaint, but you know once in a while one comes across a person that I appreciate. I have received from your clerks, both men and women, is so rare in these days, that it causes surprise to the purchaser. Your people seem like those of the olden days, where courtesy was the real instinct of a true gentleman, and when found will bring more customers to a store than all the advertising in the world, for my husband says the best advertisement is, if you are satisfied, tell others. I have told many that had never been to your store, who are now following in my footsteps, as you say, "Where U Bot the Hat."

Somewhat, your clerks seem like the real old New Englanders that had stepped from home where the pie that mother made, were the best ever, so felt would like to tell you that you can be proud of those in your employ when they are well and all speak in such glowing terms of you, for there is no truer saying, "United we stand, divided we fall."

I wish some of the clerks in the larger stores would come down and take lessons in politeness and courtesy which is greatly appreciated by everybody.

Sincerely,

Brookline, Mass.

The definitions of Imitator and Imitation recently published are beginning to make me squirm. I received a card in the mail the other day addressed

Sore Dorr, Esq.
Raymond Svindigstad.

Of course the head of a firm never sent it, but it was probably sent by a cowardly understrapper, cowardly, because he didn't dare sign his name; understrapper, because no one else would do it; but what can you expect of anyone who would spell or pronounce it, "Svindigstad?"

This came in same mail but this fellow signed his name:

Gentlemen:

Speaking about Imitators, well you have got someone's goat all right. That is and has been very plain to be seen to those who are able to see, that Originality and not Variety or Imitation, is the spice of life. Eh?

Yours truly,

Boston, Mass.

Attention Mr. F. I. DORR.

Gentlemen—

I received the check together with your letter. It certainly does seem refreshing to see a firm that plays the game as fair as you do.

I am returning this check to you because somebody in your establishment sent down two pairs of rubbers, and that squares the deal without the check.

With best regards and wishes for your continued success, I am,

Very truly yours,

THREAT TO JAIL DEAN ATTORNEY

Gov. Bartlett Refuses to Hear Selection of Jeffrey; Says He Was Tricked

Concord, N. H., Feb. 12.—Governor Bartlett's refusal to hear the selection of Jeffrey and the relatives of Dr. William Kendrick Dean and his threat to imprison Harry M. Pickard, a man of Boston, spotl. caused for the town, instead of discouraging them, have been fighting for months for a reopening of the Dean murder case, has made them more determined than ever, they said today, to see that justice is done and the murderers apprehended.

"We have only just begun to fight," said Attorney Henry M. Dean of Boston, a cousin of the murdered man who, like the selection, was announced at the news attitude taken by Governor Bartlett from the very outset.

Although he had invited the selection men to confer with him at Concord and had himself set the date for conference, Governor Bartlett abruptly terminated the session after a short speech and the assertion that he had been "tricked into a hearing."

Governor Bartlett claimed that when the selection wrote to him asking him to fix a time for a conference, he supposed they merely desired a statement. He said he received scores of such requests and always granted them. It was that Attorney-General Oscar L. Young and County Solicitor Roy M. Pickard of Keene, and the so-called "soft pedal" from Jeffrey, who have been active in opposition to the selection, appeared to be on hand with talkers and a group of stinging rapers.

Attorney Guterman's only offense was his insistence that he appeared as counsel for the selection of Jeffrey and that they should be heard through him. Governor Bartlett asked the selection if Mr. Guterman was their counsel, and when they told him that he was and that they wanted him to handle their case, the governor told the young attorney to keep quiet or he would send him to jail.

Before he left yesterday's meeting Attorney Guterman filed with Governor Bartlett a brief which contained a full summary of the complaint which the selection and taxpayers of Jeffrey made against County Solicitor Pickard for his method of handling of the Dean case.

DENIES SLUR ON U. S. ARMY

Wilkie Bard, English Actor, Says He Has Greatest Respect for American Forces

Wilkie Bard, the English actor, who was the guest of the Canadian club last evening, took occasion to correct a statement that has been published about him in which he has been accused of slurring the American army and the American nation in the war. He said:

"My attention has been called to a letter in a Boston newspaper which accused me of slurring the American army in France and England. I said that at a theatre in Toronto recently I said that the Americans came into the fight in the south round after England had fought nine rounds."

"This same story has been published in a New York theatrical paper—several of them—but I refrained from answering, as it might seem a good deal like a showman's trick in getting publicity and notoriety."

"However, as my engagement in America is nearly ended, and as I return to Europe in a few weeks, I want to briefly explain what gave rise to the statement."

"During my engagement at Toronto, Canada, one evening a number of us, including some Canadian officers who had fought on the other side, were chatting and joking as men will chat and joke under such circumstances, about the war—and as to who won the war."

"Several good stories were told—several laughable stories were told—stories that were heard among the soldiers in France after the armistice had been signed, most of them of a boastful and ridiculous character—by Scotchmen, Englishmen, Irishmen, Canadians, Australians and Americans."

"As I remember it one man told the story which many of you have heard, in which the war was compared to a ten-round prize fight in which England and France fought the first five rounds against Germany and Austria when the Americans came in fresh in the tenth round—and won the war."

"I had never heard the war compared to a prize fight before, and it struck me as kind of humorous, so I repeated the story in the theatre that night in a spirit of jest."

"At the meeting with the Canadian officers and others I was asked to tell in a five-minute talk what I thought of the war."

Phone Service Bad? Listen to This

New York, Feb. 12.—Here's a bit of good and telephone service.

In two months Dr. Harry Gilbert has received 263 calls on two telephone numbers.

In exactly nine cases the calls were actually for him. In 244 instances the physician scribbled hopefully on the telephone and said "Hello" in his best professional manner, only to have the "phone girl" murmur sweetly, "Wrong number."

He discovered this interesting case as a symptom of the poorest telephone service in the world.

"Now how this thing got around I don't know, but it certainly looks like malice on the part of somebody. I have the greatest respect for America, her armies, her navy and her people in war or peace."

"However, as my engagement in America is nearly ended, and as I return to Europe in a few weeks, I want to briefly explain what gave rise to the statement."

GABY'S RICHES GO TO ORPHANS

Dancer Leaves More Than $3,000,000 to Build Home for Motherless Girls

Paris, Feb. 12.—A magnificent bunch of flowers for the funeral of Gaby Deslys, the famous dancer-actress who died here Wednesday, was brought here from London in an airplane. Her home is literally filled with floral gifts.

With the exception of a trust fund for her mother, the whole of the 7,000,000 francs (normally $1,400,000) plus more than double that amount in jewels, is left by Gaby Deslys to go to the building of a model asylum for motherless girls at Marseilles, France.

An earlier report that the famous, stung of people, said to be a gift of ex-King Manuel of Portugal, would be buried with her, in compliance with her dying wish, was denied by those in charge of the funeral today. It was said the ashurn was abandoned for fear that her grave might share the fate of the resting place of Miss Lantane, which was twice violated by ghoulies in 1913.

Miss Deslys was laid to rest to-day in a simple white gown of tulle and chiffon on a bed of white roses.

The report was current today that ex-King Manuel, who passed through Paris last week on the way to Cannes, visited Gaby in person. He is said to have cried when parting from the girl who had been so tremendously regarded as the deciding factor in his betrothal.

As a Hen Gathereth Her Chickens Under Her Wing, So Will I Gather Great Colonies of the Most Thrifty People in Boston Into This Great Store Saturday

Are there any people still lingering in doubt as to the merit of my Lockhart Mill End Sale? Read over these columns of special events for Saturday, and if the offerings do not lift you from the depths and shadows of uncertainty, your case is hopeless and hopeless. By permission of, and through the co-operation of this firm and its wonderful organization, the generous offers liberally distributed in these columns were made possible. I would remind my readers that most people travel along the outer edge of prudence and close to the border of want because they do not take advantage when opportunity knocks at their doors. I am determined my Lockhart Sale shall fling its great arms of helpful embrace far and wide. I am grateful for the immense patronage the Boston people have never failed to shower on my business. These Saturday specials are proof that I seriously consider it my duty to show that I am human, and my heart is in the right place. We cannot fill Mail, Phone or C. O. D. orders on any of these items.

A $5.00 MIRACLE HAT SALE TOMORROW

(My judgment may seem uncharitable, but not untrue)

To refuse an attempt to get one of these hats is proof you do not deserve it; if you fail to get one because the big crowds beat you to them, your effort and intentions are at least commendable. Hidden nowhere in the future maze of time this spring will the smart women of Boston have brought to their mortal view a companion piece to this, "$5.00 MIRACLE HAT SALE." An effective hat on a lady affirms a mental atmosphere envied by an affectionate heart. A lady's hat makes a sort of path to the hearts of men. Any woman who desires to attain a good husband must be advanced in the womanly art of true greatness that lies in refined taste; this inborn quality is individual, it is in evidence but cannot be explained. The hat illustrated here will be on sale at $5.00. Several score not illustrated, but equally valuable and beautiful will be ready at $5.00 on Saturday morning. These are all jaunty, crisp new stock that ought to bring from $8.00 to $15.00, but in my "$5.00 MIRACLE HAT SALE" the merchandise must be as much a miracle in style as it is a miracle for anyone to sell new hats worth $8.00 to $15.00 for $5.00 each. Awaiting with confidence a wonderful millinery sale tomorrow.

Candy Sale Saturday

There is always light and room above, climb higher. "You can't live by bread alone." Seek out the reason why Nature put a sweet tooth in every mouth. Creation's ways are usually right, are they not? A little good, pure candy to individuals in normal health seems almost a necessity. In spite of the high price of sugar today, I will give the lovers of candy a feast on chocolates with 12 different centers at 45c a pound. I won't stop, but will add assorted Molasses Kisses at 35c. Ask the candy dealer what they think of my Lockhart prices.

C. A. Lockhart.

I would not presume to tell the Health Department in the great city of Boston how to manage their department, but I do believe they will say "Mr. Lockhart is right when he advises that everybody ought to wear rubbers to keep their feet dry at this critical time."

Saturday, from 9 to 12, with every pair of Women's, Misses' and Children's Boots I sell at the Mill End Price or any other price you may select, you may buy

A Pair of Rubbers to Fit the Boots for 10c

Whoever heard of women's, misses' and children's rubbers selling for ten cents? I answer, "Nobody." But thousands will know it is a reality and that I mean just what I say, and you know we do just what we advertise, regardless of consequences. Therefore, I repeat, in addition to the great bargains in the ladies', misses' and children's boots, you may buy a pair of rubbers for ten cents. I do this sensational thing to strengthen the immense patronage, the profound respect and the honorable position my sale has obtained in the city of Boston. This is rubber shoe weather; rubbers in a shoe department are as staple as sugar in a grocery department. Rubbers at ten cents a pair are as cheap as sugar at a penny a pound. Bring in the whole family. Fix them up on boots and rubbers, and you will never forget the Lockhart Mill-End Sale.

C. A. Lockhart.

A '10 Boys' Suit Sale

An Extra Pair of Boys' Knickerbocker Trousers, 10c

Ages 7 to 16 Years, for

A $10 Boys' Suit Sale that will make the parents in this city stand up with heads erect and take off their hats to my Lockhart Mill-End Sale, or I do not know the Boston People.

These are not $10.00 suits, but I will sell them for $10.00 and with each suit you buy you may buy a good pair of Knickerbocker trousers with the suit for 10c. This is not a misprint, I fully appreciate the responsibility assumed in making this gigantic offer to the intelligent people in the City of Boston. I have long since been able to stand with confidence undaunted in the presence of big business. Frenzied parents who know not which way to turn in clothing their boys will want to take advantage of this sale. I cannot give a detailed list of all the suits that will be thrown into this mighty event, but you will find corduroys, serges, tweeds, cassimers, chevots, etc. The extra pair of boys' trousers you may buy with each suit for 10c do not match the suits. My belief is each boy needs an extra pair of trousers to fit in with an odd coat, and by this generous offer you can tell how many suits I may take for 10c.

C. A. Lockhart.

A 25c Bath Towel Sale from 9 to 12 Saturday A.M.

I warn you that when 100 dozen have been sold this sale will close, for we cannot replace the towels.

This one lot of pure bleached bath towels are good size, good weight and good quality. In the true sense they are not 25c towels, but I want the women who may have been snow-bound during the opening days of my Sale to find just as good bargains now, and better if possible. Therefore, I name this very low price on this most wanted article. I reserve the right to limit the quantity to a buyer of not over 1 dozen. You may buy one towel or any quantity not to exceed 1 dozen.

LOYALTY URGED BY COOLIDGE

Declares It Prerequisite to Permanency of the Union

Governor Coolidge, speaking before the members of the Middlesex Club at their Lincoln night celebration, held at the Hotel Somerset, emphasized Lincoln's loyalty to the constitution, and after quoting from Washington's Farewell address, he defined loyalty to the constitution as being a prerequisite to the efficacy and permanency of the union.

of the union. The Governor stated that such loyalty was the guiding star in Lincoln's life.

LINCOLN NEVER SWERVED.

"Lincoln recognized slavery as a fact," he said, "and although in principle diametrically opposed to it, when he took oath to support the constitution and laws he meant what he said, and nobody ever swerved him from such support."

RECOGNIZES EMANCIPATOR.

The Governor enlarged upon the economic changes which followed the abolition of slavery, and the difference in the relation of employers and employed, and quoted from Lincoln's address to working people, in which he said: "Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed without labor. Labor is superior to capital, but capital has the right. Let not him who is homeless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself."

BOOM REED FOR PRESIDENT

Sen. Hardwick Reports Georgia
Lined Up; Other Southern States Following

Washington, Feb. 12.—An independent movement to send delegates to the Democratic national convention pledged to support Senator James A. Reed of Missouri for the presidency, has been started in several states of the South. It became known here today.

The most active work is being done in Georgia under the direction of former Senator Hardwick, and Tom Watson, and in Missouri under the direction of former Senator Vanderman. Organizations are being perfected in other states. It was announced.

Senator Hardwick said the sentiment in favor of Senator Reed, because of his opposition to the League of Nations, is growing rapidly throughout the South. He said he is confident the Georgia delegation will be lined up solidly behind Senator Reed. Similar conditions are said to exist in Mississippi and other States.

Senator Reed is taking no part in the movement, and it was stated that he has not even indicated his approval of the efforts to get delegations pledged to him.

All the days of Lent except Sundays are fast days, and the fast period ends on Holy Saturday the day before Easter.

The regulations are: "All between the ages of twenty-one and fifty-nine are obliged to fast, except the sick and convalescent, some infirm, weak, and old, and those whose fasting would cause grave injury to health, or would produce weakness or exhaustion as would interfere with their daily duties, and those whose occupations are of a very laborious and exhausting nature. Those who doubt whether they are excused or not should consult their confessor. Those obliged to fast are allowed but one full meal, either at noon or in the evening.

STECKER KEEPS TITLE, DEFEATING ZBYSZKO IN 1 HOUR, 32 MINUTES

WINS WITH KAL-BOOD SCISSORS

Pole Had Been Aggressor Most of the Way Until He Left Opening

Nine thousand wrestling fans saw Joe Stecker, world's heavyweight champion, defeat Waldok Zbysko, the mighty Pole of Old Orchard, with a half-body adelson and what-else in 1 hour 32 minutes and 20 seconds at Mechanics Hall, Zbysko really liked himself, when pulling on Stecker from behind with a bod-ling, the champion suddenly released his clutch on the ropes, causing the challenger to lose his balance and awkwardly fall backward past his head.

Whirling, Stecker dove for the prostrate Pole and placed the fatal hold.

It was a surprise to many who were watching the fight, for Stecker had been a long time in the air, and it was not until he had been in the air for some time that he was seen to be in the air. Stecker had been a long time in the air, and it was not until he had been in the air for some time that he was seen to be in the air.

At length it was a surprising but for Stecker to be a winner, for he had been a long time in the air, and it was not until he had been in the air for some time that he was seen to be in the air.

THEY'LL be sewing amendments on to the Constitution until the tail goes heavier than the kite. The 15th amendment will probably make it a misdemeanor to eat raisins on a Ferris wheel or drink barley water to a dizzy ground.

THE 20th will forbid bald-headed guys from carrying open glasses to a bathing beach, and will also compel engaged couples to wear boxing gloves while holding hands.

STILL, there are ways of beating the barrier. You can ask a cross-eyed girl to drink to you only with her eyes. That ought to make you dizzy.

Peacedale and Standish Worsteds are two well-known brands of woolen goods. They are known for their quality and durability, and are popular among many customers.

Peacedale Worsteds, 14 full ounces in weight, absolutely all wool, Dublin twisted worsted goods, might with a great quantity, a number of pieces of which have been labelled "light seconds," but they are as far as my customer is concerned, absolutely perfect and I sell them as perfect merchandise, because I take all that may incur.

No other tailor in the country today, not excepting the high-priced ready-made clothing who talk about all wool and give you shoddy, will advertise a Dublin twisted, all wool worsted suit, 14 ounces in weight, under $50 for a suit, and I contend these fabrics compare very favorably for quality of merchandise with the suit sold for $100.

SPECULATION IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE

A rise in foreign exchange can be taken advantage of without involving the risk and the outlay necessary in connection with buying foreign money outright.
An initial payment, which is only a fraction of the cost of buying outright, is sufficient to control large sums of foreign money for a period of nine months. The original payment constitutes the maximum liability. The profits, on the other hand, should exchange rates rise, are altogether out of proportion to the small initial outlay.
Forty dollars controls ten thousand Marks! Should the Marks controlled return to only half of their par value, the profits would exceed $900.00 on every $40 invested. A quarter million Marks can be controlled for $950. The return will be $2,500.00 for each cent the Mark advances above calling rate.

Circular, showing that Marks are now quoted far below their actual value, sent on request.

STEELS LEAD IN EARLY SLUMP

Hourly Oil and Shipping Shares Advance
By W. M. ROSS, Financial Editor
Stocks were weak in New York at noon, but rallied somewhat and the majority were above morning lows. Railroad shares had recovered most of its loss, while steel had improved a little, and shipping shares were strong and motored had gained more support.

DISCOUNT TRADE CHARGES.
It was said in financial districts that the stock market is now discounting a decline in commodity prices and the business readjustment which will be forced by the situation for all kinds of products. Slowly it will be forced by the situation to be a more human, less, but conservative market. In that standpoint, it is cheap now and that the rebound may be as spectacular as the advance last year. The high cost of money, the increasing and the reduction is likely to be painful, but the economy will be sustained during the ordeal by a fundamentally sound condition. It may be found, however, that the Auditor General's present a big bill for the war debts.

CURB MARKET IS WEAK AT OPENING

Trading on the Boston Curb was active, but that market weakened. It was affected sympathetically by the reaction on New York and Boston and silver had an indefinite trend. Among stocks to start weak were Boston and Troy Arsenals.

The President Should Halt This Amazing Sacrifice

President Wilson will make a blunder of the first magnitude if he permits the great German fleet of passenger ships to be sold Monday to a single bidder for approximately $28,000,000.

The ships, which are now owned by our Government, include the finest and greatest ships in the world—the peerless Vaterland, greatest of the late Hamburg-American liners; the Crown Princess Cecilie, best of the late North German Lloyd fleet; the Kaiser Wilhelm II., the America, the George Washington (called the Presidential ship), the Kronprinz Wilhelm and twenty-four others.

The United States Shipping Board seems to have made a secret bargain with a single shipping company, the International Mercantile Marine, to sell to it this entire fleet, incomparably finer than any other single company in the world now possesses, at a price about one-half or one-third its true value.

No valid reason or excuse has been given by the Shipping Board for such a sale, on such terms, in such haste, and without competition or adequate publicity, at a price so far below the prevailing market rates for ships.

We hope that Senator Fletcher, the able chairman of the Commerce Committee of the Senate, which devoted an entire day last week to hearing the testimony of competent shipping men opposing this sale, will not fail to call President Wilson's attention today to the very grave scandal which threatens his Administration.

The American can only remind the President how President McKinley once escaped an equally grave scandal in the projected sale of the Union Pacific Railroad for less than half it was worth to a New York syndicate.

That scandal was only averted by President McKinley's order postponing the sale. The syndicate then doubled its offer.

How inadequate the price of $28,000,000 for this finest fleet of great liners in the world would be is shown by three facts:

First—It represents about $80 a ton. The British Government recently offered to pay $125 a ton for the much older and poorer ships owned by the International Mercantile Marine. This offer was refused!

Two—The Vaterland alone was valued, when seized by our Government, at ten million dollars. She is the greatest ship in the world and carried more than 140,000 of our soldiers across seas.

Three—The International Mercantile Marine Company, which is to acquire these ships, was organized by the late J. P. Morgan. IT CAPITALIZED IN PRE-WAR TIMES A MUCH LESS VALUABLE FLEET THAN THIS AT $154,600,000.

Nominally an American line, this company has never been patriotic in principle, purpose or practice. It was organized as a speculative holding company, always to be subordinate to British shipping interests and British control.

The very articles of agreement by which it acquired from British owners the best ships it ever possessed contained this explicit provision, amazing to any patriotic American:

"The British vessels shall remain British not merely nominally, but in reality. A majority of the directors of the English subsidiary companies shall be of British nationality, the vessels shall continue to fly the British flag, their officers shall be British, and a reasonable part of their crews shall be drawn from the same nation."

To the company that made that agreement President Wilson's Shipping Board now intends to sell at one-half or one-third its true value the finest single fleet of ships in the world.

Strangest fact of all, this sale was to have been made ON THE BIRTHDAY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN, that stalwart American in whose day, the darkest period of the Civil War, England was fitting out the Alabama and other armed cruisers to drive American commerce from the seas. It has been postponed to Monday.

"ATTEMPT TO LOOT PUBLIC TREASURY"

One of the most significant points in the amazing situation is contained in a letter from Mr. Manson to United States Senator Fletcher, dated February 6, 1920. After giving Senator Fletcher a copy of his telegram to the President, Mr. Manson says:

"FEBRUARY 6, 1920.

"The highest price bid for all of the ex-German ships as an entire lot was $28,000,000; and the highest bid (in fact the only bid) for the Leviathan was $4,000,000, both bids being made by the International Mercantile Marine; yet the Shipping Board had the brazen effrontery to actually undertake to spend $50,000,000 for overhauling these ships, $10,000,000 being stated by them to be the cost of overhauling the Leviathan alone.

"It was my exposure of this latest attempt of the gang to loot the public treasury that caused the very sudden change in their plans and their decision to sell the ships in the condition they now are, their condition not being as bad as they would have you and the public believe.

"I hope you will get my testimony, which is printed as part 14 of the hearings, and read it carefully."

ENORMOUS TONNAGE INVOLVED IN DEAL

Some idea of the enormity of the tonnage that the International Mercantile Marine would get for $28,000,000 can be had by scanning the following list of the ships which are involved in the deal:

AMAZING DISCREPANCIES IN FIGURES

Roughly the bid of the International Mercantile Marine would be on the basis of $80 a ton for the German shipping. About a year ago, before the present high costs prevailed, British interests offered the International $125 a ton for its own fleet, and this offer was voted down by the stockholders of the company. The Shipping Board has been asking as high as $235 a ton of some American purchasers for some ships.

Mr. Manson urges that there be the fullest investigation of the value of the captured German ships before they are sold at all. He points out that since the big insiders of the International have been determined to sell their fleet to British interests, the German prizes would eventually get into English hands for a song unless Congress provides that they must always fly the American flag as long as they are afloat.

More startling disclosures are promised by Manson in the course of any further investigation.

Expert Shipper Invokes Aid of the Newspapers to Halt Outrage

The American directs the attention of President Woodrow Wilson to the following gravely important communication:

OFFICE OF
PHILIP MANSON
280 BROADWAY

TELEPHONE
CABLE ADDRESS
PHILMANSON

Feb. 7, 1920.

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, NEW YORK CITY.
DEAR SIR:

As a result of a conspiracy between the Shipping Board and certain steamship interests—as charged by me in testimony which I gave before the Senate Committee on Commerce, last Monday—the Shipping Board proposes to sell the ex-German liners next Wednesday.

[The sale is now set for Monday, February 16.—Editor.]

These include some of the finest vessels in the world, and the conditions of the sale have been so framed as to favor a certain few companies, principally the International Mercantile Marine and its affiliations.

In an endeavor to stop this sale I telegraphed the President yesterday, as per copy herewith. I am afraid it will take more than my telegram to stop this sale. The NEW YORK AMERICAN has helped greatly by its news story regarding this matter. But more will be needed. You have it in your power to do one of the greatest services to the American people that you have yet done, by making a strong editorial appeal to the President to stop this sale. Such an editorial must be published not later than next Tuesday to be of any value in the present instance, as the sale of the ships is scheduled to take place Wednesday.

I to-day conferred with my attorneys regarding my obtaining an injunction against the Shipping Board or the Emergency Fleet Corporation restraining them from selling the ships, but the expense of such a proceeding is such that I cannot undertake it myself. I venture to suggest that the NEW YORK AMERICAN may see its way clear to render the American people this great service, in the event that the President does not order the Shipping Board to hold up the sale of these ships. I believe that the Emergency Fleet Corporation is the agency of the Shipping Board against which such an action would have to be taken.

It has been my privilege to be connected with the Government's shipping legislation since 1914, when I was asked by Mr. McAdoo, then Secretary of the Treasury, to advise him regarding same. I prepared the data for most of Mr. McAdoo's speeches on the subject, also for most of the speeches in the Senate and the House on this subject, including the one herewith enclosed. I state this to you so that you may know that I am qualified to speak on this subject.

I also enclose a few letters taken at random from my files to further assure you that I speak with knowledge and authority on shipping matters. Kindly return these enclosures after you are through with them.

Only you, with your public serving newspapers, can now put a stop to this betrayal of the American people's interests. I will be glad to see you at any time regarding this matter, but early action is imperative if the gang is to be stopped from "stealing" the ex-German liners at a mere fraction of their value, when they are so vitally needed in connection with a Government merchant marine. Such ships are unreplaceable for many years to come at any price.

Yours very truly,

Philip Manson

THE TELEGRAM TO PRESIDENT WILSON

The telegram which Mr. Manson mentions as having been sent to President Wilson is as follows:

New York, February 6, 1920.

HON. WOODROW WILSON, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Sale of the ex-German liners announced by the Shipping Board, to take place next Wednesday, is a betrayal of the American people's interests and should be held up until the reasons against it can be submitted to you. Some of these reasons are given in my testimony last Monday before the Senate Committee on Commerce. If decision to sell these vessels will not be altered, then ample time should be given to all who may be interested in bidding on the ships to make proper surveys of them. This has never been done. On the contrary, the conditions of sale previously announced were such as would favor certain interests. The American people look to you to protect their interests against those in high positions who would sell them out.
